HIGHER PRICES
The U.S.D.A. announced a few days ago that they were boosting the support price of peanuts by $7.50 a ton. According to a news release that I received the minimum will be an average of $255 per ton compared to $247.50 in 1969. This increase was due to an upward adjustment in the parity prices. The present law reads that the support price must be set between 75% and 90% of parity. The return for this year will be 75% of the parity formula estimate for August 1. Officials point out that the parity price could be greater than the $255 but will not be less.

NEMATODES
Charles Brown in the Jack community called me Friday morning for help in putting out materials to control nematodes in his peanuts. Brown had not tested for nematodes, but his peanuts have been dying in certain areas and he decided to go ahead and treat for nematodes. More and more Coffee County farmers are trying to control all the factors they can in making high yields of peanuts. As I have said many times, most farmers face a lot of problems that they don't have any control over. With the exception of adequate rainfall, they can control just about every other factor going into making a good crop of peanuts.

Our special appreciation to the sponsors - Covington Electric Cooperative; Federal Land Bank Association; Ozark Production Credit Association; 4-H Club Council; South Alabama Electric Cooperative and Wiregrass Electric Cooperative.

HOG BUSINESS
Willie Pate, who is a new - comer to Coffee County from Conoc County, is interested in going into the hog business. He came this week looking for top-quality Landrace and Yorkshire hogs to use on his herd. Pate is working at Ft. Rucker and has the hog enterprise on the side. We have a lot of folks in the county who are working somewhere in the side. This adds a lot of farm income to the county and keeps many of our people fully employed. Hundreds of folks like Pate could be growing feeders or even carrying them on to market weights.

We have plans in our office for all types of buildings and equipment. LIME - Coffee County farmers have heard us mention the value of lime on dozens of times, but we have good reason backed by solid research for our recommendations. Experiment Station publications across the South are filled with facts pointing out that lime increases the availability of phosphorus; it favors the release of Nitrogen from organic matter; lime helps the process of Nitrogen fixation from the air; lime counter-balances some of the acidity left by Nitrogen fertilizers and it supplies calcium and magnesium, both required for production of top yields of corn, cotton and peanuts.

Brunson To Attend Seminar In New York

Paul R. Brunson, Regional Director, Small Business Administration, Birmingham, will attend a seminar on Administration of Public Policy at the Executive Seminar Center, Civil Service Commission, U.S. Marine Academy in New York for two weeks beginning June 1. Brunson was selected to represent U.S. Small Business Administration.

The seminar focuses on the role of career administrators in the development and implementation of public policy; emphasizes his part in formulating policy objectives and his obligation to assure that agency programs and activities agree with national policies set by Congress and the President. The seminar stresses the part department and agencies play in building, shaping and sharing public programs.

An independent audit of the May 5 Democratic primary election results showed that Judge Renuan Almon and Birmingham attorney William Conway were saving as to who would be the winner. In the final count, Conway was declared the winner with a statewide count indicating Conway had won the nomination to the judgeship by 1,246 votes.

An independent audit of the May 5 Democratic primary, ordered by State Democratic Chairman Bob Vance after several questions were raised concerning the Jefferson County election returns, reversed the race for State Court of Appeals. Almon contested the election on the basis of the erroneous election returns.

The new statewide tabulation gives Judge Almon the nomination by 918 votes. Vance ordered the retabulation done by the certified public accounting firm of Herbert Raburn and Associates. The firm announced its findings at a news conference in Vance's law office Wednesday morning.

So after all, Judge Renuan Almon is the winner over William Conway. Governor Albert Brewer gained 4,789 votes Wednesday over former Governor George Wallace with the completion of an independent audit of the May 5 Democratic primary election returns. If the figures go into the official record, Brewer will lead Wallace by a total of 11,703 votes statewide.

The official count conducted last week by an election subcommittee of the State Democratic Executive Committee gave Brewer a lead of 6,914 votes over Wallace.

Elba High School Sets Graduation

Principal Lamar Foley announces that graduation exercises for the Class of 1970 will be held in Tiger Stadium Friday night, at 8 o'clock.

Mickey Driggers, class president, will deliver the main address entitled "The Challenges of Today."

Elba and holds a B.S. and Masters Degree from the University of Alabama.

Wallace Telecast Is Criticized

A telecast advertised as "Wallace Meets Alabama Press" is a pretaped, rehearsed program including only selected representatives of the news media.

Representatives of the Daily Mountain Eagle, Baldwin Times and Alabama Farmer newspaper asked the former governor or questions that had been agreed upon in advance. The program was taped Sunday and will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

ALL THE NEWSPAPERS represented on the program believe in being straight and honest and that he had made a promise that the race for Probate Judge was to be his last political race and that he believed in a man's word being his bond.

Sheriff Tillman is a firm believer in "keeping your word" and he certainly does not intend to back down on his word, according to his statement.

He has many friends who do not want him to leave the Sheriff's office and he appreciates them for it, but cannot run for that office on an independent ticket after running as a Democratic candidate, the party he has always been with.

Band Day Proclaimed By Local Firm

The House of Fabrics is sponsoring "Band Day," all day this Saturday, May 23.

"Band Day" means that a percentage of every sale attempted by a business in the House of Fabrics to assist in the sales.

The House of Fabrics will donate 15% of the day's sales to the Tiger Band Uniform Fund, in an advertisement this week the House of Fabrics say.

"There is your chance to help your boys and girls raise the money they need, as well as getting in on savings for yourself." They continue with "Come on down and join in the fun; these young ladies are waiting to help you. Let's all get behind the 'Band Uniform Fund' drive."

The House of Fabrics has proclaimed Saturday, May 23, as "Elba High School Band Day." Fifteen cents of all sales Saturday could amount to a lot of help toward the chasing of uniforms for the Tiger Band and will lessen the burden of the active role of career administrators in the development and implementation of public policy.

James Sawyer Statement To Voters Issued

A heartfelt thanks was given to the voters of Coffee County this week by James Sawyer for the excellent vote he received in the first primary election May 5th. In a vote that was almost unprecedented in the history of the county, Sawyer was well out in front of all his opponents.

Looking forward to the runoff election on June 2nd, he said, "I invite all those who are not in the runoff to join with me in these final days of the campaign."

Speaking of the duties and responsibilities of the probate office, Sawyer said he's already familiar with the county government and how much the county government owes to the people for the operation of county government.

Therefore, he will not have to devote time to the study of this first government before knowing what he can do in other areas.

"I have no other interests or other duties to conflict with doing my job as probate judge," he said. "I work at my job throughout the working day and whenever my services are needed."

He said his five years in Army service doing clerical and administrative work and his experience as county tax collector lend themselves to fulfilling the duties and responsibilities of the probate office and many of the duties are similar to those now being performed.

Sawyer said he promised to give the same efficient, courteous and impartial service in the probate office as he has given in the tax collector's office.

Highway Patrol Gives Weekly Report

Weekend traffic roundup May 15 through May 17, 1970 from 6:00 p.m. Friday through mid-night Sunday, your Alabama Highway Patrol investigation of 213 rural traffic accidents. In these accidents, 185 persons were injured and 11 were killed. The fatalities occurred in the following counties: two in Baldwin, and one each in Chilton, Tallapoosa, Macon, Limestone, Butler, Madison, Etowah, Marshall and Sumter. These accidents bring the number of people killed in Alabama this year to 298 compared with 319 killed during the same period last year. This is a decrease of 21 fatalities. The eight county Dothan District Troopers investigated 20 accidents with 10 injuries and no fatalities. The traffic law violations causing these accidents were: speeding, driving while intoxicated, wrong side of road, fail to yield right of way, defective equipment, inattention, unattended animal in road, asleep at wheel, improper signal, and dodging a dog in the road. The Dothan District has 21 rural traffic fatalities so far this year as compared with 27 at the same period last year.

Coffee County Troopers investigated two accidents with one injury and no fatalities. So far this year four people have died in Coffee County traffic accidents compared with one at the same time last year.

Safety belts save lives if they are worn. Authorities believe the use of seat belts alone could have prevented around 10,000 traffic fatalities last year; and the seat-shoulder belt combination might have reduced crash deaths as much as 80%.

In a recent Swedish study of some 28,000 crashes that occurred at speeds up to 60 mph, 9,000 of the car occupants involved wore seat-shoulder belt combinations. None was a fatally injured. Non-belted occupants died at speeds as low as 12 mph. Your Highway Patrol asks you to buckle up and live.

Employees of Dorsey Trailers had an excellent turn-out and according to those working with the Bloodmobile other volunteers were disappointing.

RESEARCH COSTS Independent research and development have been largely responsible for making this nation a world leader. Our technological curiosity has unlocked some of the mysteries which have baffled men of vision for centuries.

The cost of this research, whether it is directly connected with a specific product or goal, has always been one of the overall costs of doing business, and is a part of the selling price.

Now there are federal legislative proposals to limit the government recognition of research and development costs of private industry. This would not only reduce technological progress in defense and space work but would also discourage private research in safety, pollution and other social problems.

The price of every business-man's products should contain the cost of doing business for which each customer pays a share. To legislate that one customer will not pay his fair share discriminates unfairly against all other customers.

THE CREATION OF COFFEE COUNTY

As the nineteenth century opened, the Indians did not have any permanent towns in this area. It was formerly thought that there were no Indians in the area which was later to be called Coffee County. It is true that most of the larger settlements were north and east of this area, but the Indian relics and remains that have been found indicate that some Indians lived here also. Since the remains are few in comparison with other parts of the state, it is unlikely that there were more than a handful of Indians in this county. It is likely, however, that many of the tribes to the north and east used this section as a hunting range for game.

This included the future Coffee County, but settlers did not come in large numbers to this piney woods country until almost twenty years later. Even so, the first Federal sale of land in future Coffee County was made in 1812, two years before the public land office was established in Milledgeville, Georgia, where parcels of this creek country were sold to the conquering whites. John D. Player bought land in township five, range nineteen, and section four. This tract of land was located in the Rhodex Schoolhouse community, near Perry's Store, on the Elba-Kinston highway. It is not known whether he settled the land or not. At any rate he was the only legal landowner in the county for twelve years, which these settlers came had been subject to various claims and negotiations since the Spaniards first entered it. POOR ORIGINAL

Good old Yankee ingenuity has done it again. A case in point concerns the men of one of the units of the 4th Infantry Division stationed in Vietnam. It seems that the muggy weather was turning the thoughts of many of the men longingly back to that "Old Swimming Hole."

Well, thanks to the engineers of the Division, the men now have one of their own—a swimming hole, that is. Two loud explosions just outside camp announced the beginning of the new recreation area. When the soldiers arrived on the scene, they found a hole 25 feet in diameter and 5 feet deep, rapidly filling with muddy water. Not much of a swimming hole, but the engineers weren't done yet. They cleared the water, built a dam, and even constructed a diving dock.

Ever since, there has been standing room only around the "Old Swimming Hole."

WIND POWER

Speaking of ingenuity, the Army engineers can't take all the credit in the 4th

Death Claims

Charlie Hyatt

In Hospital

Charlie Hyatt, 72, of Jack died in the Elba Hospital last Wednesday night. Funeral services were at 2 p.m., Friday at New Hope Baptist Church with the Reverends Bill Gregory and Walter Kahealy officiating. Burial was at the church cemetery with Jackson Funeral Home in charge.

The hero of this story is First Sergeant Raymond Smith, who has invented a windmill powered washing machine. Using only four ammunition boxes, a bag of nails, a trash can and a few other scraps, the sergeant has assured the men of his camp clean clothes for as long as the wind blows.

As the wind turns the fan of the windmill, a crank shaft converts the rotary motion to an up-and-down "piston" action. The piston extends into the container, forcing trash can containing the water, clothes and soap, and tie plunging action takes over.

This is Sergeant Smith's second venture into the wind-driven laundry business. He built the first machine during World War II while he was stationed on Guam.

QUESTION
How soon after I enlist can I expect my first promotion? It usually takes about three months before you receive your first promotion and raise in pay.

HIGH AND DRY
A new inflatable "stretcher," which is also light and compact, is being prepared by the Army Combat Developments Command to help ferry supplies and injured troops across swamp lands, delta country and inland waterways. The "stretcher" is strong enough to resist puncture damage.

We'd like to welcome the following young men who have enlisted recently under the Army's "written guarantee" program: John D. Lampley and Donald R. Long. Both men choose the Aircraft Maintenance Course at Ft. Rucker, Ala.

WHAT ARE VITAMINS, REALLY?

Are vitamins nourishing? That's a tricky question. Strictly speaking, vitamins are not nourishing in the sense that you could live on them alone. It is important for people to remember this, especially those who are inclined to buy bottles of vitamin pills and think they are going to be just dandy with them.

For vitamins are nutrients without calories. They furnish no energy. Nor do they supply any building material for the body, as do carbohydrates and protein. Still, the body requires vitamins because they are regulators of body processes. Perhaps one should consider vitamins as part of the "management team" of the body.

Vitamins, then, are necessary for the vitality of all body tissues.

Discovery Of Vitamins
Vitamins have always been in our foods, long before they were recognized as such. The discovery of vitamin A in 1913 by Dr. E. V. McCollum is considered the beginning of modern nutrition science. Dr. McCollum made his discovery while studying the effects of milk in the diets of white rats. Dr. McCollum also discovered vitamin D and was instrumental in helping the dairy industry set up National Dairy Council as a public service nutrition research and education organization. He wanted the dairy industry, whose products are so rich in nutrients including vitamins, to help create public understanding of good nutrition and the kinds and combinations of foods that constitute a good diet.

The Norsemen who ate the livers of the cod and other fish—the sailors who recovered from scurvy when they reached shore and could obtain fresh fruits and vegetables—these men never heard of vitamins. They knew from results what they needed. They simply didn't know why.

A Balanced Diet
Today, we hear almost too much about vitamins—particularly the approach of prescribing for your own needs. My advice is that a balanced diet from a wide variety of foods, such as the four food groups (the most milk products groups, fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals), will furnish all the vitamins you need. And you'll get them in these foods in company with the other nutrients you must have.

Remember vitamins themselves furnish no energy, nor building material for the body. Perhaps that's why nature put them in foods, so you'd be sure to get them together with the nutrients they were meant to regulate.

The Soft-Edged Look Of Spring Suits

MOOD OF SPRING—Apple green cotton, dotted and handkerchief patterned in white, is Teal Tru's choice for a soft-edged spring ensemble. The long jacket, lops a high-necked dress with sleeveless white bodice and gathered skirt.

THE 30'S REVISITED—Tom Nasarre for Junior Sophisticates borrows from the 30's for this soft suit look of double woven cotton. The bathrobe tie jacket, stretched to the hip, goes over a long-sleeved shirt and skinny Asatit.

CITY SUITED—Black and white flowers have the look of a pen and ink drawing in this fine-ribbed cotton costume by Danika. The simple body-shaped jacket commands a slip of a dress with white bodice and printed skirt.

Spring suits and ensembles follow the new fashion direction to elegant and ladylike designs.

Dress and jacket costumes as well as two-piece suits are gently shaped and softened. Sort of skirt and long of jacket, they're most often interpreted in lightweight woven cottons.

These subtle, drapable fabrics lend themselves to the soft, flowing, easy belting, and contour seaming of spring suits. And they do their fashion thing in an endless variety of jacquard, cloque, and dobby constructions.

Free-form designs, precise geometrics, modern plaids, and intricate novelty weaves show their pretty faces in the spring suit shapes.

Also communicating this spring direction are bright dyes and trims of color to contrast with the softer lines. Designers favor true red, navy, hot green, or lilac mixed with white.

Dramatic combinations of black or brown with white are much in evidence, along with tri-colored interpretations in dusky hues like mauve and beige with white.

Brothers of the Brush" will take place this Saturday, May 23. The caravan will leave Florida at 1:00 p.m. Cities to be visited on the first tour will include Opp, Brantley, Elba, and Enterprise.

If you in these towns are invited by a group of strange looking women attired in old-fashioned costume of the 1870 era and men sporting luxurious beards and mustaches, let it frighten you. It will only be enthusiastic citizens of Florida heralding the Centennial Celebration.

The citizens of Florida invite everyone to visit with them during their week-long celebration beginning Sunday evening, June 21, with a combined meeting of all churches at Matthews Stadium at 7:30.

Cruiser Line To Begin In Evergreen
Camping and outdoor recreation are becoming a great part of the Alabama way of life, and this is indicated by recent development in Evergreen.

Mr. O. B. Tuglie, Executive Vice President, Marketing, of Flexible, recently announced the sale of Flexible Cruiser Line to Mobilux Corporation. Tuglie said the parent company is working on a substantial backing of orders for buses.

Heading the new Alabama corporation as President will be Dr. Emmett Dale, formerly manager of the Recreational Vehicle Division of Flexible.

Designer of the Flexible Cruiser Line of motor homes, Dale announced that warranty service on the Flexible will be handled by Mobilux and that he expects to expand the dealers organization franchised by Flexible.

The Mobilux Corporation is using the Evergreen, Alabama, plant of Flexible to produce their product.

WORTH TALKING ABOUT

The bureaucratic imperative must sometimes give way before a higher, compassionate, humanistic imperative, one derived from man's legitimate needs and aspirations—Max Levin, M.D., New York.

Fraternity Spokesman Scores Violence and Student Militants

Nationwide waves of political violence—often linked to ultra-militant campus groups—were strongly denounced by an organization of college students.

Pi Sigma Epsilon, professional marketing fraternity located on 46 U. S. campuses and speaking for more than 9,000 students and alumni members, isolated the "several hundred bomb-and-destroy disciples" as "truly unrepresentative" of the seven million U. S. college students.

By unanimous acclaim at a meeting in Chicago, PSE delegates scored "campus radical groups for hiding behind the cloak of environment" in pursuing self-centered and irresponsible ends.

Most students are not taken in by "life of love and freedom" slogans used to "permeate sick hatred, brutal arrogance and a lust for irresponsible power," Bruce J. Olson, national PSE student vice-president, said.

"If a racketeer who bombs a building to steal money deserves ten years imprisonment, the terrorist who bombs a building under guise of 'a life of love and freedom' deserves at least equal treatment," he said.

Questions and Answers

Q. As a college student, I work part time each semester and full time during college vacations. The social security contributions coming out of my pay could help me meet expenses. Why deduct from my earnings now, considering the number of full-time years in the future I'll have to pay? Will I really get my money's worth over the long run?

A. You and other young workers—part time or full time—are earning valuable social security retirement, survivors, and disability insurance protection worth more than the social security contributions you pay. If you have 1½ years or more of recent work in your social security record, your family may count on monthly benefits if you become disabled. And your family would get monthly benefits if you died. Earnings of as little as $50 in any 3-month calendar quarter will assure you of credit toward this valuable insurance protection.

Q. My wife and I now have four children (2 sets of twins) after only 3 years of marriage. At 23 we've both worried about their future if I should die. Would social security provide anything?

A. Yes. When a father—or a working mother—dies, monthly benefits can be paid to the children until they're 18 or up to 22 if they continue in school and remain unmarried. Payments also are made to the mother while children under 18 remain in her care. Benefits are based on the worker's average earnings under social security. A family may qualify for payments if the worker has social security credit for as little as 1½ years of work in the 3 years before death. Payments can range from a minimum of $96 monthly for a widow and one child to $434.40 monthly for a family your size—the exact amount depends on the parent's average earnings and the number of children involved.

Have a question about social security and its retirement, survivors, disability or Medicare benefits? Consult your telephone directory for the address of the nearest social security office.

COFFEE COUNTY

FIRE ANTS Rural Coffee County folks don't like fire ants. They make unsightly mounds in fields and pastures, and their stings are painful. Folks in town don't like them either because we have requests for a lot of fire ant poison.

Through the cooperation of our Coffee County Fire Ant Committee made up of Dupree Martin, G. E. Howell and Brown Bryars, Mirex fire ant bait is available at our office in Enterprise. We recommend three to five pounds per acre, depending on how bad they are. This means that an acre can be treated at a cost of only $50 to $75. A dime's worth will treat the average lawn.

SOIL FERTILITY Dr. Warren Williams, veterinarian in Crenshaw County, told me the other day that Coastal Bermuda and Bahiagrass pastures fertilized with broiler house manure are vastly superior to regular pastures. He said that dozens of his clients in Crenshaw County have 15 to 20 acre pastures that are producing large amounts of grazing. He attributes this to the liberal use of manure plus fertilization.

Incidentally, if we expand broiler production here in Coffee County, this broiler manure will have a good effect on our pastures.

RAIN I was talking Tuesday night to Willie Barefoot and S. A. Kelley, both of Route One, New Brockton. When it starts getting dry, a lot of farmers start predicting when it will start raining. These two farmers say that we can always count on a good rain on June 17. Kelley said he over watched this for over 40 years.

Private Valfunua S. Multaupoale has not only his hands but his mouth full as he performs an Hawaiian war dance. A native of Samoa, he is currently training at Ft. Rucker, Ala., to be an aircraft mechanic.

Rucker Soldier Plays With Fire Skillfully

Most parents teach young children not to play with fire but by age nine Private Valfunua S. Multaupoale was not only beginning to play with fire but to twirl, toss and jump over it.

Known as Pele, the 22-year-old Samoan has become proficient in the art of Hawaiian war dances which he practices every day for an hour. He has developed his act so skillfully that on his sixteenth birthday he was selected to represent the Samoan Islands at the New York World's Fair in 1964-1965 where he and his troupe, known as Pele and his Royal Samoans, performed daily.

At the close of the fair, Pele, who is currently undergoing advanced individual training in aviation maintenance at Ft. Rucker, returned to high school in Samoa.

Enlisting in the Regular Army in February of this year, he still finds time for his dancing and has performed at the Army Aviation Center Service Club on numerous occasions. He recently took second place in a talent contest and has performed on the drums during the recent visit of a Polynesian musical group.

He is currently assigned to the 3rd Enlisted Student Battalion, Army Aviation School, Regiment at Ft. Rucker.

Higher Pay for Less Work Boosts Prices

"Unit labor costs in 1969 went up 4 per cent, as contrasted with a 2 per cent increase in 1968," Geoffrey H. Moore, commissioner of the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said in a recent Chicago address. He explained that the decline in worker's productivity (output per man per hour) was a factor in the rise in unit labor costs.

"Prices rose more rapidly in 1969 than in 1968, but profit margins did not contribute to that faster rate of price increases," said the Labor Department official. "In fact," Mr. Moore added, "profit margins offset some of the increase of labor and other costs."

Nothing quite compares with the exhilaration of that final day at high school.

The drudgery of note-taking, the monotony of assignments and recitation, the tedium of term papers, the nights of cramming, the toiling tension of exam week... it's all behind them.

And ahead... graduation... the prom... college... a job.

But as an earnest parent, pause to take stock of your son's spiritual maturity. Has the soul's growth kept pace with the mind's?

The firmness of the bond between the Home and the Church holds the answer. Strengthen that bond every Sunday. In a world that constantly tests the faith of men... the last exam is not over.
